

Meet the Principal

Mr. Robert Buss

About Me

Robert J. Buss serves as the principal of St. Paul's Lutheran School in Menomonie, WI. St. Paul's school is nearly 150 years old and serves 140 students from 3K-8th grade. He was raised in Milwaukee where he attended K-8 at St. John's Ev. Lutheran School before graduating from Wisconsin Lutheran High School. Upon graduation from MLC, he was assigned to teach grades 3-5 at St. Luke's in Oakfield. While subsequently serving at Siloah Lutheran School in Milwaukee, he obtained a master's degree in Literacy and Learning in the Content Areas from Walden University and was a founding member of Christian contemporary group Koine. He also taught at Hope High School in Milwaukee, serving as English Department chair. Before accepting a call to Menomonie, he served multiple roles at St. Marcus where he founded the Mustang Drumline, worked in administration, taught classes in grades 5-8, and played drums in multiple weekly worship services for nearly 14 years in two other worship groups. His wife Susan is a WELS art educator and accomplished international artist who partners with him to raise their four children.
